Mr. William F. Looney

Dr. William F. Looney

Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit

On the second floor of the "Castle on the Hill", things will never be quite the same. The ring of infectious laughter that once rippled from Room 221 is no longer to be heard. Students and faculty alike are no longer greeted by the smiling canny eyes of our former Head of the Department of History.

It was a bit over a quarter of a century ago when I first encountered in Boston Latin School a young teacher whose kindness, warmth, and sympathy soon made, despite his youth, a profound impression on all his students. At first it was hard to realize that this brilliant teacher had, at the age of nineteen, graduated from Harvard with honors; served in World War I; and had the distinction of being one of the youngest men ever appointed to his Alma Mater. It did not take long, however, before generations of Latin School "boys" had developed a keen respect and high regard for the History instructor of Room 202—a respect and regard that is now shared by countless hosts of our own graduates. Naturally, our respect was considerably increased when we discovered that our teacher, in addition to his degree from Harvard, held two Master's degrees, a degree in Law, to say nothing of a Doctor's degree. Less than fifteen years after his appointment to Latin School, "Bill" was made Head of the Department of History at our own school—one of the youngest men ever to be made Department Head in the High Schools of Boston. Thereafter, those of us (their name is legion) who frequently "dropped in" at Latin School for a chat (always replete with kindly advice and sympathy) had to make the longer trek to Brighton. At this time, it never occurred to me that I would one day serve on the same faculty, and that the time would come when, upon entering Room 221, Dr. Looney would remark off-hand to his classes: "You know Mr. McNamara used to be a home room pupil of mine in Latin School." Invariably, the classes lifted polite but firmly skeptical eye-brows. No wonder; for "Bill" still retains a youthful energy and zest which defies the passage of years. Indeed, "Bill's" enthusiasm for public service is a continual astonishment to his friends; he has instructed teachers, University students; served on Civilian Defense in World War II; and directed the Citizens' Public Celebrations Association; as well as being a Chairman in Community Fund Drives.

Now, Dr. Looney has left us to become Head Master at the High School of Commerce, and we know, in our impoverishment, how great an enrichment he is bringing to that school. And to this friend, counselor, teacher, scholar, and now administrator, we utter a sincere and heartfelt: "Vaya con Dios!"

His Students Speak

The class of 1947 takes great pride and pleasure in dedicating the Gothic to Mr. William F. Looney. How often we shall recall with fond memories that highly esteemed teacher who left the school in the same year as our graduating class!

Mr. Looney entered our school in the year 1934. Having graduated from Harvard College with an A.B. degree, and having received several degrees from various other colleges and universities, he was destined to win success. After teaching in Boston Latin School, he received the honor of becoming the head of the History Department at Brighton High, where he proved to be very capable of sustaining that position. Mr. Looney had begun to mount on the funicular of success.

Brighton High benefited greatly by his stable support. He took a personal interest in the students; he advised them to do not what was easiest, but what would benefit them most.

Besides having extraordinary teaching ability, Mr. Looney also possessed a fine character and personality. His wonderful sense of humor could not be surpassed. The effervescent spirit which was characteristic of his jovial disposition was indomitable. His joyous laughter, echoing throughout the corridors, succeeded in making school life much more pleasant for the students.

During our senior year, we received the disappointing news that Mr. Looney was going to leave our school where he had been admired by both teachers and students. However, we soon learned that he was going to advance once again on the funicular of success as headmaster of the High School of Commerce. Our felicity upon hearing this news was immeasurable, and although we disliked losing him, we were proud that his ability had been recognized. Our sincere best wishes are with him. We are assured that he will be successful in his new venture. We hope that in our chosen fields, we shall achieve the success that he has gained.

Although we are leaving the Brighton High School this June, 1947, to inaugurate new careers, the memories of our dear Alma Mater will linger. And in our treasure chest of memories, the name of Mr. William F. Looney will certainly retain a high place. Good luck to you, Mr. Looney, from the students of the Class of '47 who know, honor, and admire you.

Foreword

The Class of 1947 attended high school during one of the most critical periods in American history. In April of the sophomore year, death brought to a close the brilliant career of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the man whom these boys and girls knew as President from their early childhood. One month later, Germany surrendered, ending the European phase of the World War II.

Ordinarily a summer vacation slips by without the occurrence of any particularly momentous event. However, during the summer vacation of 1945, Japan capitulated, bringing to an end the most disastrous and costly war of all times. That same summer also witnessed the beginning of the atomic age which should eventually revolutionize the present mode of living.

Since the autumn of 1945, the nations of the world have been endeavoring to bring order out of chaos, to ban war forever and to establish the blessing of permanent peace. Although fraught with difficulties, the progress toward this goal is ever and ever more encouraging.

It is into this new world that the members of our 1947 class are graduating. It can be and will be a better world in which to live if we all show the proper determination to make it so.

JOSEPH A. LEARY,
Headmaster

Editor's Note

Classmates,

On behalf of the Gothic Staff I wish to present this first school year book to the students of Brighton High. This innovation should prove instrumental in cementing closer relationships between the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. Much of the credit for this book must go to Miss Elizabeth I. O'Neill, Miss Louise Fielding, and Mr. Walter Kelliher, whose interest was of material assistance in making this book the best ever produced in Brighton High School's history. To them, and to the loyal members of the Gothic Staff I wish to extend my sincere thanks.

Brighton Towers

Although we managed, during the war years, to convince Mr. Barry that he must keep the number of publications up and the price down, he finally eluded our vigilance, staunchly maintaining that the acute paper shortage made five issues impossible. Refusing to allow this to affect the quality of the Towers, the staff, as well as other talented pupils, came to the rescue, and crammed the four issues with editorials, essays, articles, and stories, remarkable in their contribution to school spirit, community life, and social and religious tolerance. The secret of the success of the Towers is and always has been the fact that it is supported generously by the money, time, and interest of both the faculty and the student body. To them, then, the Towers Staff extends its thanks for a memorable and successful year.

A Farewell

As we near the end of our carefree times,
And the closing day draws near,
We bid farewell to the school we love,
And true friends we hold so dear.
For fledglings we'll be in a strange new world,
We know not where we may dwell,
This life so free ends for you and me,
Brighton, we bid thee farewell!

Yes, this the close of own schoolday joys,
And we'll fix in our hearts for all time,
Belov'd vistas of grey Gothic spires,
And pray for safe guidance of thine.
Though these cherished visions must surely die,
In memory they'll live o'er and o'er,
And loyalty strong to Brighton we'll keep,
In our lives flaming ever more.

CLASS PRESIDENT

JOHN SHERRY

President's Message

As the time approaches when we shall be saying farewell to our classmates and to "the towers on the hill," I know I can convey on behalf of all my classmates a sincere feeling of appreciation to the teachers and the Headmaster, who have labored so faithfully with us. Probably there is not one among us who cannot recall occasions on which some member of the faculty has helped him with counsel or encouragement when the going was getting rough. Their compensation is not primarily a material one, but lies in the satisfaction of guiding youth. We want them to know that we will think of them often and that we wish them well. We hope that we have left some pleasant memories behind us.

Each of us will carry away his own special memory of these eventful years. Perhaps it will be a class in a favorite subject with a teacher who somehow managed to help us catch "the gleam." Perhaps it is of afternoons on the gridiron, the baseball diamond, the gym or the drill field. Perhaps it is of our association with fellows and girls, of social affairs — of all these pleasant things that are mistakenly called "extra curricular" but which, made possible for us (we realize now) by those who knew our needs, gave to our days at Brighton High a luster that will live through all the years.

In Memoriam

We, the Class of 1947, wish to pay a heartfelt tribute to our classmates, Barbara Hynes and Charles White, who have passed from our midst. Only the esteem in which we hold their personal charm and qualities of mind can measure the depth of our sorrow at the absence of these cherished friends. Deeply and fondly engraved in our hearts with lines of love, their memory will never be erased by the passing years.

Senior Activities

We slake our thirst for learning deep.
In class our minds we have filled
With drops of wisdom's nectar rare,
Sublimated and distilled.

Then comes the time for weary youth
At reason's firm dictation,
To meet in clubs or join the teams
For joyous recreation.

Our clubs are Spanish, German, French
Or reading and dramatic.
The music groups ne'er fail to please
With notes and strains ecstatic.

The members spend the happy hours
In pleasant relaxation,
Enjoying talks and plays and songs
And then a rich collation.

Our athletes daring, trained and skilled
Vie on court, ice, track and field;
And in victors' laurels seeking
Never waver, never yield.

They often win; they scorn to lose
Though victory is not the test.
Our plaudits loudest they well earn
Whene'er they have done their best.

If patiently you read these lines
Which in our mind are churning,
You may conclude that we allow
A breathing spell from learning.

Yet the fleeting hours of gladness,
Fraught with friendship which we laud,
Teach us how to live in concord
With each other and with God.

President	MIDHART SERBAGI
Vice-President	DOMENIC MAZZOLA
Secretary	PANORA LADAS
Treasurer	WILLIAM PORTER

This year, the Brighton High School Orchestra, with the aid of Mr. H. Dana Struther, attempted to make it the best orchestra ever organized in Brighton High.

Every Monday the orchestra rehearsed, going through the music carefully and accurately. Individual attention was necessary, but, as a whole, the orchestra approached perfection.

The orchestra played at practically every assembly and school program. This was enjoyed immensely by the pupils, and it was excellent experience for us, as it gave us more courage and enthusiasm to play before an audience.

The orchestra itself consists of two trumpets, three saxophones, two violins, three trombones, three drums, a clarinet, an accordion, a bass, a guitar, and piano.

We feel the orchestra has been successful in achieving its goal.

Band

Captain	DOMENIC MAZZOLA
First Lieutenant	RICHARD MURPHY
Second Lieutenant	MIDHART SERBAGI
Drum Major	BURT STEIMAN

This year, because of the enthusiasm of its members, the Brighton High School Band has developed into a splendid musical organization under the excellent guidance of Mr. Fortunato Sordillo, the Assistant Director of Music in the Boston Public Schools and Mr. Fickett of the faculty who has charge of the band.

Many times during the year, the band has been called upon to perform on different occasions. It has met with the approval of the school at these times. All students of the school as well as the band looked forward with anticipation to the prize drill competition and the school boy parade at which time the band had an opportunity to display its ability.

Credit is also due to Mr. Barrett, who instructs the woodwind section, Mr. Gardner, instructor for the drums and Mr. Patch for instructing the brass. These men have done much toward improving the quality of the band.

The band assembles three times each week. On Tuesday, the woodwind section, drums and brass meet separately for instrumental instruction, while on Thursday and Friday the band performs as a unit.

May the Brighton High School Bands of the years to come keep the high standards that have been set by the band this year.

Drum and Bugle Corps

Captain	LAURIE KELLY
First Lieutenant	ARNOLD ROSEMAN
First Lieutenant	J. KELLNER
Second Lieutenant	GERALD BERMAN
Second Lieutenant	J. BARACK

Brighton High's Drum Corps is at its best this year. The old time drummers and buglers are back again and are guiding the younger ones for the future.

In the past, Brighton's Drum and Bugle Corps has been excellent. Last year we came in second.

This year, Brighton's Drum and Bugle Corps is going to hit a new high.

The Drum and Bugle Corps is not big but we all know you can't judge a book by its cover.

LAURIE KELLY, Captain

Brighton High School Patrol

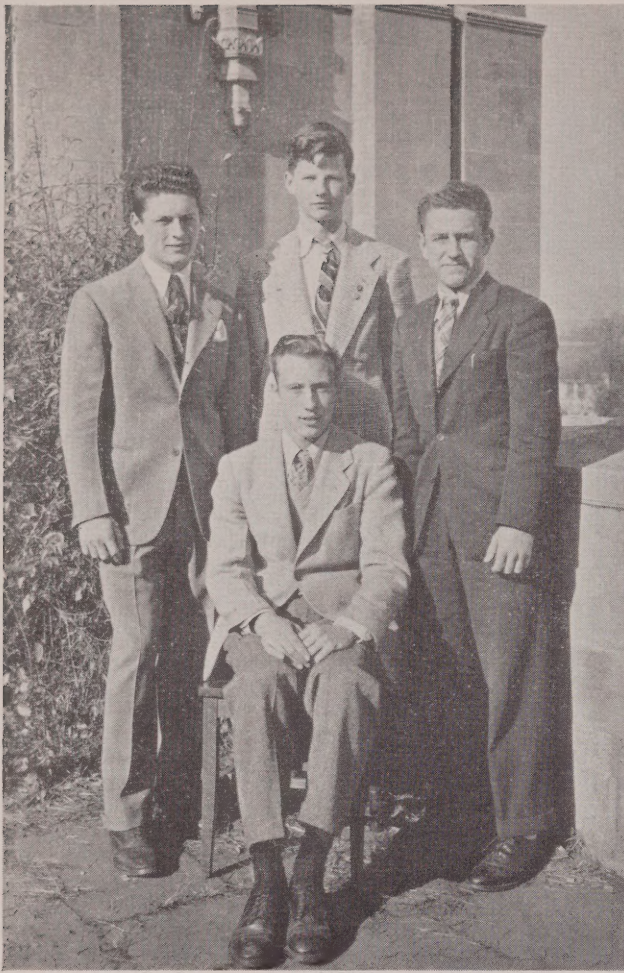

This year celebrates the tenth anniversary of the B. H. S. Patrol. In 1937, Mr. Joseph A. Leary introduced this school activity.

Under the superb guidance of Mr. Dowell and Mr. Fickett, the patrol has kept up its reputation for loyalty. The boys assigned to the lunchroom carried out their orders efficiently throughout the year.

The B. H. S. Patrol is made up of Seniors who are in good standing. As captain of the Patrol, I feel that it is proper for me to pay tribute to the able lieutenants who have aided me in making this year's Patrol a real success: Stanley Becker, Martin Michlin, Arnold Roseman.

We hope that the Patrol in years to come will keep up the high standards that this Patrol has established.

BURTON DAVIDSON, Captain

President	WILLIAM PORTER
Vice-President	HENRY ROSS

At the first meeting of the Music Appreciation Club, the following officers were elected:

President	CHARLOTTE BUSNY
Vice-President	ANNA SOTER
Secretary	JEAN KELLY
Treasurer	ROSEMARY DEROCHE

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to Miss Miller, under whose able direction, the Music Appreciation Club of 1947 enjoyed a pleasant and worthwhile year.

Many profitable hours were spent by the members listening to really fine music. With the money obtained from dues, a collection of records was purchased which makes a fine addition to our music library.

Fortunate indeed was this year's membership to have as its president the talented Charlotte Busny, who devoted so much time and effort to making the club a real success.

To the future club members of 1948, we extend our most cordial welcome, assuring them that their year will be as pleasurable and successful as ours has been.

JEAN KELLY,

President	BARBARA O'NEIL
Vice-President	PATRICIA KELLY
Secretary	ANN CLOHERTY
Treasurer	ELAINE HANNEGAN

The Student Council is the governing body for the pupils of the school. The main purpose of the Council is to bring the problems of the student body to the faculty and promote school spirit. With the aid of our faculty adviser, Miss Wilson, and with the outstanding abilities of our president, Barbara O'Neil, the Student Council has done a great deal to improve school citizenship and to promote school spirit.

To the future students, who are members of the Student Council, we wish the greatest success.

President	MARTHA CAMPBELL
Vice-President	NANCY MARSH
Treasurer-Secretary	RUTH B. ZIDE
Librarian	JEAN JOHNSTON

The Girls' Glee Club is a selected group of girls who participate in part singing. Besides giving many interesting assemblies, this club also enables talented girls to perform in public. The capable director is Mr. Burke, the Assistant Director of Music in the Boston Public Schools.

Art Club

President	LORRAINE MERLIN
Vice-President	MARY NICHOLS
Secretary	SALLY BARRETT
Treasurer	ROBERT McGRATH

The Art Club, newly formed under the supervision of Miss Glennon, meets twice each month, on the second Tuesday and third Thursday. The membership consists of students from all classes and is under the leadership of President Lorraine Merlin.

To gain a deeper appreciation of art is the primary aim of the members of the Art Club. With this in mind, the students study fine paintings, and discover their great beauty and intrinsic value.

The members also engage in many entertaining activities, such as modeling in clay, painting trays, and making Christmas cards.

Contributing markedly to the success of the Art Club was the generous cooperation of Miss Frances Glennon.

SALLY BARRETT,
Secretary

Dramatic Club

President	JACQUELINE BARKER
Vice-President	VASSO VOUTSAS
Secretary	MARY ELIZABETH SMALL
Treasurer	CLAIRE BREEN
Sergeant-at-arms	FLORENCE HANSEN
Business Manager	GERTRUDE GLICKMAN
Production Manager	JACQUELINE CALDWELL

Under the able guidance of Dr. McNamara, the Dramatic Club had a very prosperous and pleasant year. Instruction in voice, gesture, and dramatic interpretation helped every member on the path to confidence and poise. From time to time, visits by former alumnae officers provided very interesting reminiscences. Thank you, Dr. McNamara, for a wonderful year!

MARY ELIZABETH SMALL,
Secretary

Reading Club

President	JANICE MULLEN
Vice-President	ELENA VOLANTE
Secretary	DOROTHY BRACK
Treasurer	CAROL HENZLER

On each third Wednesday of the month, the Reading Club met in 324, where our sixty-six members became better acquainted with famous authors and their delightful works, and enjoyed light refreshments.

During the year our activities included specially-planned holiday programs full of fun and information; dramatization of many short plays, interesting historical trips, and our climactic Junior Day. The purpose of Junior Day, which is our final meeting, is to introduce our club to the junior girls who are honor students in English, and therefore eligible to membership the next year.

Now, Juniors, you are ready to take our places. We wish you luck, girls, and truly hope you may have as wonderful a year as we did; with Miss Bailey and Miss Marshall as leaders, you can't fail.

Le Cercle Francais

Cette année Le Cercle Français a élu le bureau suivant:

Présidente	JOAN SULLIVAN
Vice-Présidente	EVELYN OESCHGER
Secrétaire	CAROL KAPLAN
Trésorière	JEAN HEFFERNAN

Le Cercle Français, grâce à l'aide et aux conseils pratiques de Mlle Miller, notre aimable conseillère, a passé une année agréable et profitable. A nos assemblées, qui ont eu lieu tous les mois, nous avons chanté des chansons françaises. Les scénettes ont donné à certaines membres l'occasion de montrer leur talent dramatique, et aux autres, l'occasion d'écouter le français. Les jeux en français ont aidé à faire parler même les plus timides. Nous avons parlé français dans les discussions des affaires et par conséquent, nous nous sommes exercés à parler la langue.

Il ne nous reste maintenant qu'un souvenir du Cercle Français, mais c'est un souvenir heureux qui durera longtemps, tant que nous vivrons. Nous espérons que ceux et celles qui nous suivront, trouveront dans ce Cercle le même plaisir et profit que nous.

Vice-President	IRENE BOUMENOT
Treasurer	VASSO VOUTSAS
Secretary	ANN QUINLAN

The Senior Girls' Commercial Club, one of the most active clubs of Brighton High School, came into existence through the able guidance of Miss Burpee.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in commercial life by the meetings which are held twice each month, on a Thursday.

Although the Commercial Club of "47" is now past history, we feel confident that its future members will uphold and remember the high standard attained by the club. We are sure that future members will enjoy the Commercial Club as we did.

Cheer Leaders

In their traditional black and orange outfits, the cheerleaders under the supervision of Miss Burke and with the help of Mr. Murphy once again cheered the team on to victory. The cheerleaders after long hours of practice opened the football season with a rally held in the assembly hall. Eleanor Marrone, Elena Volante, Patricia Coveney, Barbara O'Neil, Ann Cloherty, Carol Henzler, Panora Ladas, Lorraine Igoe, Helen Kelly, Ann Tagan, and Ann Centola were the girls who held this honored rank and cheered earnestly and faithfully at each football game.

Cadet Officers

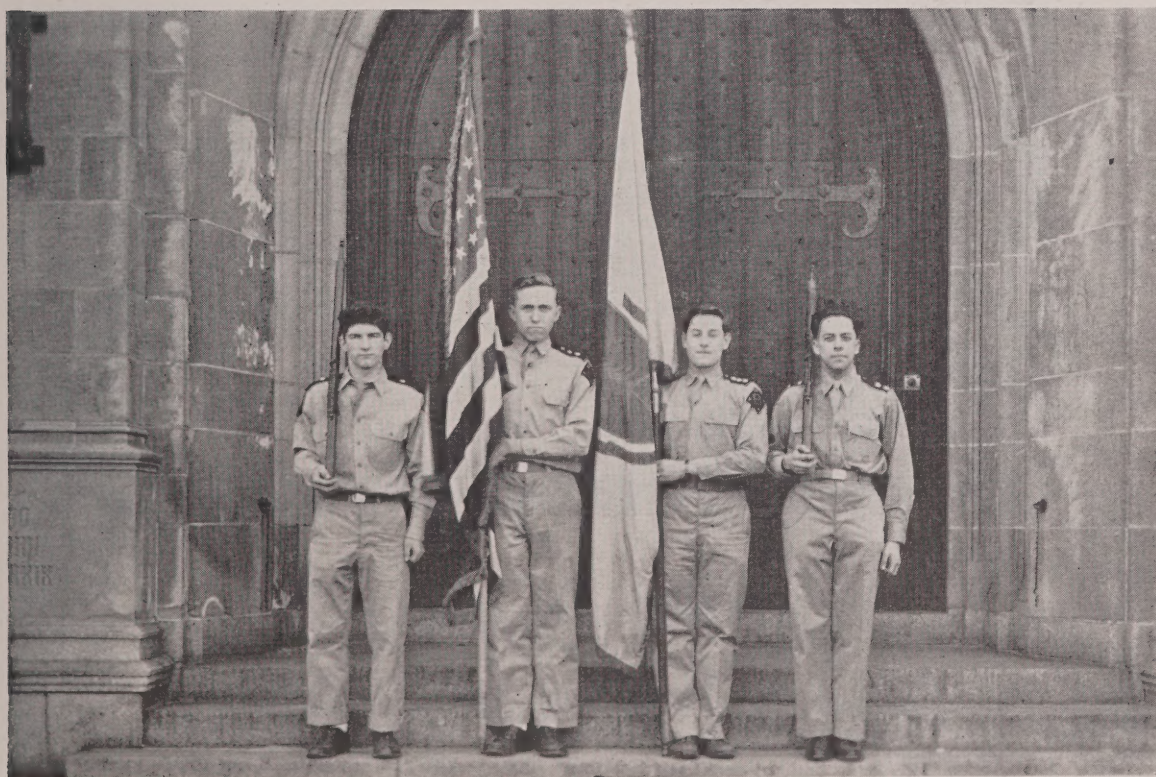

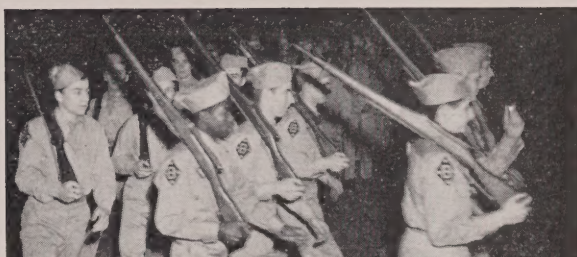

All year we planned to hang up that bunting, for Brighton intended to win first prize. First of all, Lt. Stewart was once again directing Brighton's crack regiment. Secondly, the cadet officers were of unusually high quality, and they received the full support of their companies.

The competitive spirit was extremely keen between the various companies, and Lt. Stewart predicted a very close prize drill, with all of the companies trying their utmost to win first prize.

Always interested in improving the ability of his cadets, Lt. Stewart, earlier in the year, gave a course in precision marching and other related subjects.

Therefore, how could Brighton help winning first prize in the annual School Boy Parade?

MODERATO

I.

Alma Mater ever ours,
In our hearts remain;
Leaving now thy sheltering towers,
We pledge our love again.
Fostered by thy wisdom's lore,
Strengthened for the fight,
We pray thee as in days of yore;
Brighton, be our light!

II.

Alma Mater, still we sing
Praises ever new.
Honor, glory, we shall bring,
For these to thee are due.
Cherishing our days of youth
On thy citadel,
Never shall we flee thy truth
Brighton High, farewell!

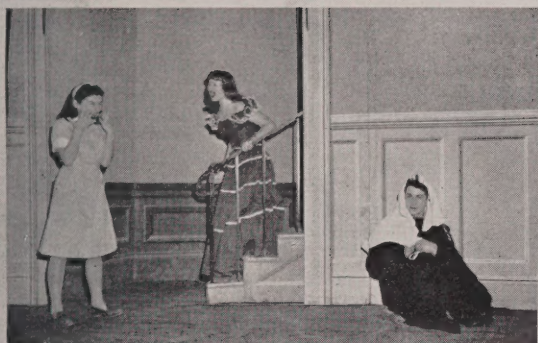

The Senior Play

On March 21, 1947, Brighton High School presented its senior play "Tricking Tricksters", which turned out to be a howling success. This was due greatly to the capable guidance of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Burnham, who did their very best to make the most of the talent the senior class had to offer. Mr. Barry, our energetic financier, efficiently took charge of the money end of the show. Our stage-manager and our diligent prompters managed to keep things ship-shape behind the scenes.

Senior Promenade

The Senior Promenade, most glittering event of the Brighton High School social calendar, was held on May 28, 1947 at the Hotel Bradford in Boston.

Our Prom, whispered over, dreamed about, and impatiently awaited by the entire Senior Class, fulfilled every extravagant expectation.

On that warmly fragrant Spring evening our world seemed endowed with a special magic. For story book heroines were never so lovely as the girls from the "Castle on the Hill". And matching their partners in grace and skill were their escorts, surely never so charming behind a stack of textbooks. We swirled about the ballroom floor to the romantic strains of Chappie Arnold's Orchestra.

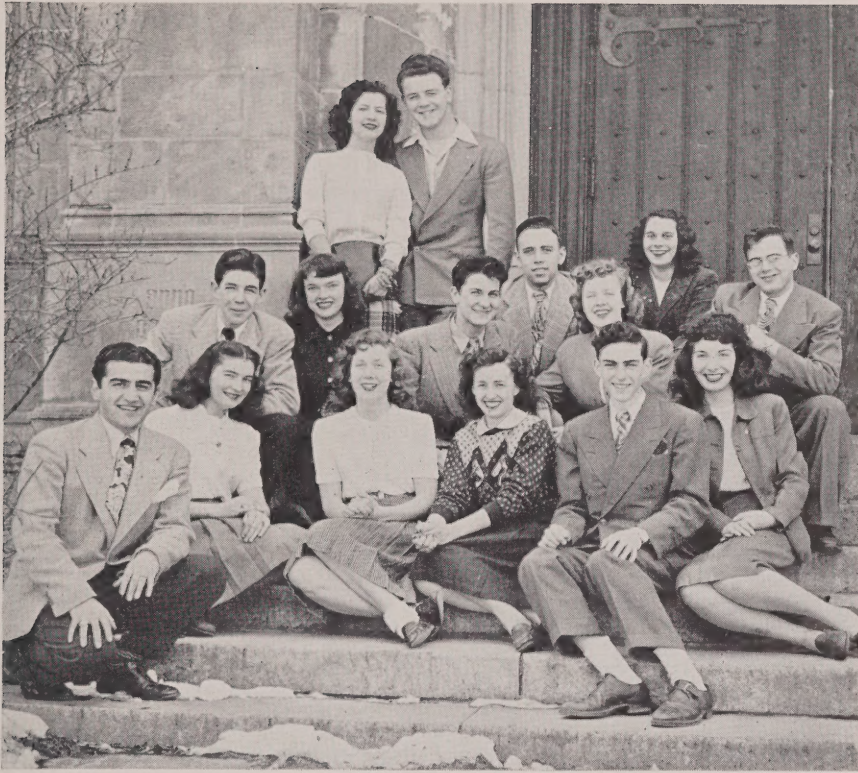

The faculty, well represented by Mr. Leary, Mr. Kelliher, Mr. Fuller, and Mr. Murray, gave every indication of enjoying themselves fully. They quite capably matched our dexterity on the dance floor. A feature of the evening was the Grand March, ably led by our President, John Sherry, with his attractive guest.

With the final strains of the Farewell Waltz, dedicated to our Head Master, we realized simultaneously that this, the most glorious event of the Senior year, was the culmination of our entire high school life.

But the thought sobered the happy faces for only a few moments. If our Brighton High School days must be terminated, then the Senior Prom was indeed a fitting tribute to their close.

It is with honest appreciation of their labors that we extend our gratitude to Mr. Fuller and the Executive Committee.

Class Day

Class Day, the most appealing and stirring activity of the year, will always remain secure in our treasury of memories.

The exercises, as usual, were conducted on the terrace, in the auditorium, and in the gymnasium.

TERRACE

Arrayed in white, Helen Kelly, symbolizing the Spirit of Brighton High School, was seated in the place of honor.

The herald, Robert McGrath, stepped forward to deliver the following address:

I. Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Parents and Comrades! We the Class of 1947 gladly welcome you on this our festive day. For three years Brighton High School has been our Alma Mater. Now we stand at the open door, ready to leave her sheltering walls for the great adventure of life. Ere we say a courageous "All Hail" to the unknown future, we pause for a sad and grateful farewell to our loved school.

II. Some among us merit especially recognition for high scholastic achievement which brings them well deserved rewards, and reflects honor on their school.

1. Let the winner of the Anna Judson George Scholarship for excellence in English, Elena Volante, receive from the Spirit of her Alma Mater the symbol of her victory.

2. Let the winners of the Brightelmstone Club Scholarships, Clare Breen, Joan Ring, and Panora Ladas step forward and receive the meed of their intellectual conquests from the Spirit of Brighton High School.

3. Let the Senior and Junior honor students unite in placing the laurels of their attainments at the feet of their Alma Mater.

4. We now bestow praise on a member of the Senior Class, Dorothy H. Murphy, who has been conspicuous during the year in promoting the Brighton High School Spirit by her interest in physical education and who has been personable, faithful, honorable, and reliable.

a. Let Dorothy H. Murphy come forward to receive a medal which betokens her accomplishment.

b. We also commend Francis P. Walsh, a member of the Senior Class, who has distinguished himself by his work in physical education.

Let Francis P. Walsh come forward to receive a medal of his accomplishment.

5. To one school we are loyal, and in our loyalty we are united. But we are many members in one body. Our various courses give opportunity for full development of various powers.

a. Let a Representative of our Co-operative Course, Dominic Bruno, appear to pay homage to our Alma Mater.

b. Let next a member of our Commercial Course, Panora Ladas, render grateful acknowledgment to her.

To these two let there be joined one from our College Course, Charlotte Busny, that together all three may show honor to Brighton High School and receive medals which shall commemorate their high standing as scholars in whom Alma Mater may justly take pride.

III. Ere we move out into the ranks of the Alumni, we transmit to our successors certain privileges and responsibilities which we have held gladly and faithfully during our senior year. We relinquish these offices to our Junior Comrades with the hope that they may regard them as opportunities for serving the school, and, in filling them, add fresh glories to the name of Brighton High School.

1. Let the President of the Senior Class, John Sherry, invest the President of the Junior Class, George Macomber, with the insignia of his office.

2. Let the President of the Student Council, Barbara O'Neil, transmit to her Junior officer, Norman Shotz, the symbol of his authority.

3. Let the Editor of the Towers, Elena Volante, pass on to her successor the tokens of her high office.

IV. Now shall the Chief Marshal, Alice Sears, escort into the presence of the Spirit, our Head Master, Joseph A. Leary, that he may receive from the Editor of the Gothic, Martin Michlin, a perpetual memorial—the gift of our year book.

V. Let the Seniors now transmit to the Juniors the guardianship of the National Colors.

VI. Let the Seniors now march forth to plant the Tree which, like their hearts, will cling to the terrace of their Alma Mater. It will become an ever glorious and living symbol of the enduring loyalty of Brighton High School.

VII. Let the Class Marshals under the leadership of the Chief Marshal, Alice Sears, step forward to conduct the Class of 1947 into the Auditorium for the final exercises of this memorable Class Day.

Class Oration - -1947

Mr. Leary, members of the faculty, friends and fellow students:

Today, we are assembled to commemorate the termination of three pleasurable years at Brighton High School. We are, paradoxically, both happy and sad to say farewell to our Alma Mater. On this occasion, the fusion of our emotions of joy and sorrow prompts us to voice some of the sacred memories innermost in the hearts of us all. During the few happy years that have been ours, not only have we experienced a solid grounding in the arts, sciences, and practical mechanics of trade; but we have also glimpsed a preview of what life has in store for us.

Through our association with our inspiring, youth-loving teachers, we have realized the true significance of education and success. Opposed to the theory that education is a conglomeration of unrelated ideas; that success is to be measured by material wealth and prestige; our teachers have imbued us with the noteworthy belief that education is the result of a mental assimilation of truths and ideals, from which we, as intelligent individuals, may formulate a philosophy to guide us successfully through our personal lives. In other words, our education is a reservoir from which we may draw knowledge to help us direct our own individual thoughts and our own ways of living to ultimate success,—a success not to be measured by accumulated material wealth but rather to be measured by our ability to live in peace and happiness with God and our fellow men.

In our ascent to seniority we have experienced on a small scale the hardships and joys of life. All has not been toil; all has not been joy. We have watched toil and hardship blossom into full glorious achievement; we have seen effort and joy crumble and wither into dust in our youthful hands. In the somewhat sheltered atmosphere of our school days we have realized the give and take of life. As we walked companionably from class to class with our fellow students, unconsciously we were preparing to walk hand in hand with our neighbors in the world. When we elected class officers of typical American virtues, at once fun-loving and serious-minded, we were presaging the election of our representatives in the democracy of the United States of America.

Thus experienced, we move forward to assume the manifold duties and responsibilities of a new generation. With the fervid zealous idealism of youth, we, guided by high ambitions and lofty aspirations, go forth into the world. Will all these lofty aspirations be torn down by a harsh cruel world? Will the idealism of youth be drowned in the realism of the world? As Hamlet shrank from the cruel hand of life and lost himself in the injustice of fate, will the modern youth shrink from the appalling evils of an allegedly peaceful world, the post-war era, corrupt politics, implications of the atomic bomb, and personal defeats and disappointments, to lose himself in despair and despondency? No! It is true that our life thus far has been somewhat sheltered, but nevertheless as students in Brighton High School we were a representative group in the community. We watched our boys leave to fight for the way of life they loved so well; we paused to pray that God would sustain them in their hour of need; we saw them, returning from the war, take up once more their books and drill uniforms to replace guns and service dress. When the Community Fund launched its drive for the tremendous goal needed for local charities, Brighton High School students, canvassing the district from door to door, stopped a moment to realize that all was not fun in the world. In spite of the popular belief that high school students are just youngsters, that their only thought is of passing pleasures, we have made the problems of the community our problems, the affairs of the nation our affairs.

When we hear that the Soviets are still teaching their school children that world conflict between Communism and Democracy is inevitable; when we witness men with criminal records holding public office; when we consider the problems of a post-war world; we, a new generation in the traditional American spirit, in the traditional Brighton High School spirit, accept the challenge of the world. Asking God's kindly light to illumine the path, we are unafraid and eager for the fulfillment of our dreams. With the confidence of youth, we know there can be and is no rashness in this courage, no folly in this expectation. Imbued with the ideals of our beloved and sacredly cherished Brighton High School, we are setting out for the Holy Grail.

God's blessing be upon you,—Brighton High School!

All hail, forever more!

Class History -- 1947

In September, 1944, we, the class of '47, numbering about five hundred petrified students, made our first appearance in a strange, unknown territory. At the foot of what seemed to be an enormous mountain, we craned our necks to see the vast edifice on top, which, we were told, was that castle of learning, Brighton High School.

Once within this vast structure, we began the most perilous part of our journey, that of trying to navigate its long, dusky corridors to the home rooms which had been assigned to us last June. It was then that our first problem confronted us. Should we trudge on upward three flights of stairs, or take the word of that condescending senior who told us that all class rooms were found in the basement?

Finally, trusting to our own intuition, we gathered our fast-failing strength and tackled the stairs. Looking down the corridor we could easily classify all the students. The ones sauntering brazenly down the middle of the corridor were the self-sufficient seniors; those who walked fairly close to the middle were the more considerate juniors; while those who crept along the side like mice aware of a cat's presence were we poor sophomores. Finally after many trials and errors we arrived at our objective, our home room.

One of the first things we heard was a rumor of a talent show in which all gifted members of B.H.S., even sophomores, were invited to take part. After many rehearsals and much hard work, the performance was finally held with many sophomores revealing unsuspected talents.

Our next surprise was the formation of a Boys' Glee Club. Although we were all a little skeptical at first, the boys finally proved to us that even they could sing.

In April we were shocked by the untimely death of our great leader, Franklin Roosevelt. We realized the great loss that had saddened not only our whole nation, but the world.

In May, the man shortage being acute, most of the boys of our class received their first real thrill, that of being invited by a senior girl to the prom. It hurt a senior's dignity a little to ask a sophomore, but a man was a man no matter how one looked at it and what did it matter even if they did have to have the so-called man home by eleven-thirty at the latest?

Before the year ended, we received another shock—that of the loss of our beloved classmate, Barbara Hynes. A quiet, friendly person, the memory of her will always live in our hearts.

At last June came; we had gained a little ground. Although we still walked down the corridors like mice, we had our eyes firmly fixed on that territory marked "Juniors Only".

We returned in September and began our first trip up the hill like experienced navigators. We entered the school as sophisticated juniors taking very proudly our allotted places and feeling infinitely superior to the timid and inoffensive sophomores.

The most interesting and popular part of the school day, the luncheon period, had been changed. Instead of the old system of lunch checks, a streamlined procedure was instituted. The main feature of the lunchroom now was its Victory Lunch, which was justly named because it certainly was a victory if you were lucky enough to get it. We soon became accustomed to the new plan of eating and we managed to thrive remarkably well.

We also found another change. Miss Creedon, returned from her war-time duties, had come back to her place on the faculty.

Just as we were in full swing, Miss Rockwood, a teacher greatly admired by all, left to become head of the English Department at South Boston High School. Our loss was certainly "Southie's" gain.

Then came a great sacrifice on our part. A swimming club was formed; and, in order to belong, we had to leave our sixth period classes and go in town to the Y. W. C. A. The loss of class time was a major issue; and many bitter tears were shed over this, at least by the teachers.

After Christmas, to our great pleasure, Miss O'Neill returned from her absence and took her usual place in 317. We now had a complete faculty of which we were justly proud.

Then came the most awaited part of the year, our Junior Class election. After much campaigning we finally elected Ken Kervin, president; Helen Kelly, vice-president; Barbara O'Neil, secretary; and Larry Kosowsky, treasurer. We were satisfied with these results as all four candidates were capable.

After the excitement of the election had subsided, came the senior play, Volunteer Bride. Although we enjoyed this very excellent performance, our prejudiced intuition told us that our performance would be much superior.

A short time afterward, many of the junior boys received a blow to their pride. The man shortage was becoming less acute, and few of the senior girls requested the honor of taking a junior boy to the prom.

June having arrived, surreptitiously it seemed, we reluctantly turned in all our books, hating to leave school, but waiting in anxious anticipation for the time when we should become full fledged seniors.

Last summer seemed the shortest vacation we have ever spent. We wanted to go back to school to take our places as seniors of Brighton High School. When we returned in September, even the hall looked small in front of our already inflated ego. We found that Miss Fielding, a new teacher in the English Department, had joined our faculty. Mr. Fickett had returned to resume his post in the Cooperative Course and Miss Stuart had resumed her duties in the Commercial Department, after having spent three years as a WAVE. This added to our sense of superiority. We were sure that these members of the faculty were here only to help teach the remarkable seniors of forty-seven! But the first deflation came when Miss Browne left. Although Mr. Rubinovitz, who took her place was a wonderful teacher, we just didn't see how anyone could bear to leave such an exceptional senior class as we were determined to be!

Then came the worst blow of all. Mr. Looney, Head of the History Department, left to become Head Master of the High School of Commerce. We certainly do miss his jovial smile and sense of humor which always made our history class a joy. Mr. Moloney of English High very efficiently took over Mr. Looney's position. After the Christmas vacation, our egos were completely deflated; not only did a new teacher enter the faculty, but administrative problems necessitated a change in practically all of the teachers' rooms. We seniors felt disgraced; we had lost our air of supremacy; we were now as bewildered as the sophomores. We didn't know whether Mr. Moloney's homeroom was 311, 315, 320, or 221. We, the seniors of B. H. S. had been robbed of our prerogatives and of all the conceit we should have had. It was then a common sight to see a senior trailing along behind a sophomore who she knew was in her study class in hopes that the sophomore knew where the study period was being held.

Before long, however, we recovered from this temporary set-back to our complacency and eagerly set about elections. Walking into the school during campaign week, a stranger would have thought that teen age styles had changed from wool jackets to paper streamers as all the seniors proudly walked around decorated with from one to twenty-five campaign signs. Elections came, and we, chewing nervously at the ends of our pencils, sat in the assembly hall with our ballots in our hands. There were so many good candidates that we just did not know for whom to vote. After a very difficult decision, we finally elected John Sherry, president; Domenic Mazzola, vice-president; Gloria Kouroyen, secretary; Larry Kosowsky, treasurer; Elena Volante, orator; Rosemary DeRoche, Ann Tagan, Al Boly, executive committee; and as marshals Pat Coveney, Isabel Martin, Christos Chronopoulos, Thomas Fay, John Strickland, Maureen Yarnell, Sally Barrett, with Alice Sears as chief marshal.

Soon after the election, our executive committee began planning our big social event, the prom. Hearts went pit-a-pat for weeks as the choice of escorts was being discussed. When the big night came, we found our anticipation was surpassed only by our realization.

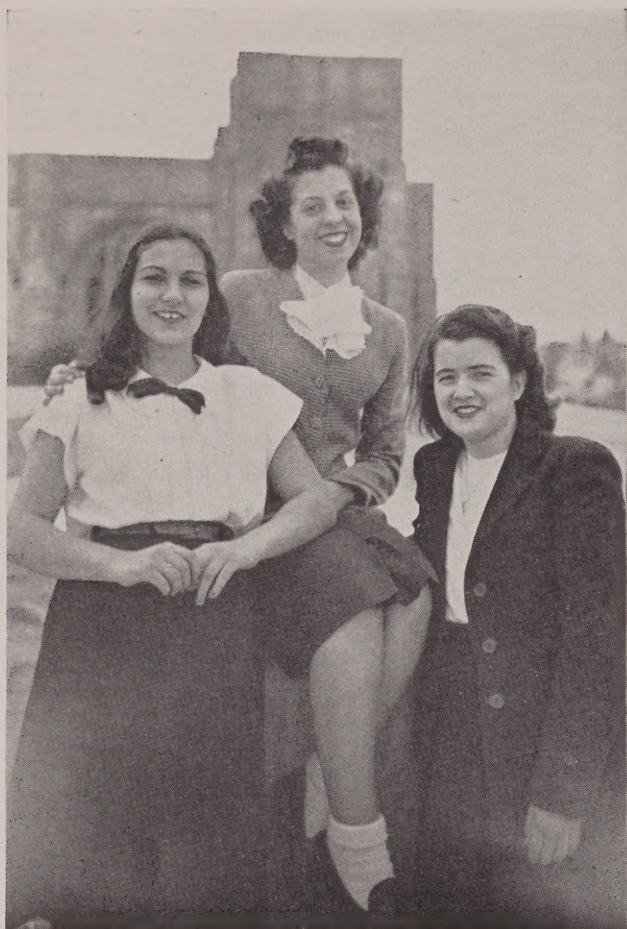

The co-captains of our football team, William Greene and Robert Finley, along with the excellent playing of the entire squad made our season one of which we were very proud. In hockey, Karl Chambers' wonderful defensive playing made our team practically undefeated. Kenneth Gillis also proved Brighton High School was fast when he made his exceptional track record. Albert Choiniere and Frank Doyle were our leading basketball stars.

When the Hearst Contest in history was held, Elena Volante had the best paper, which was sent to represent our school in the national contest. The Boston Globe also held a contest for the best essay on The Community Fund. In this we also showed our talent, or should I say we, since Elena again wrote the best paper and received fifty dollars for her prize-winning essay.

Finally our senior year was climaxed by our dramatic presentation of the Tricking Tricksters. The performance was superb, and although we have been told we may have been prejudiced, we still feel it would have had a longer stay on Broadway than any other play.

Suddenly it dawned on us that our senior year was over. Our high school days of fun, frolic and study had ended. Nothing was left of them except beloved memories and our much coveted diplomas.

Class Poem

I see a tall, gray, Gothic building sublime,
Through hurrying silence and relentless time:
Her towers stand in clouds of crimson fire,
Rising aloft through infinite halls of air,
A magnificent vision, goal of our desire.

We are her children who now slowly march
Forth from her statued halls and wide portal's arch:
Her spirit seems to speak: we listen, each aware;
"Reach above the clouds with your fingertips;
Build your hopes high, and make them fair."

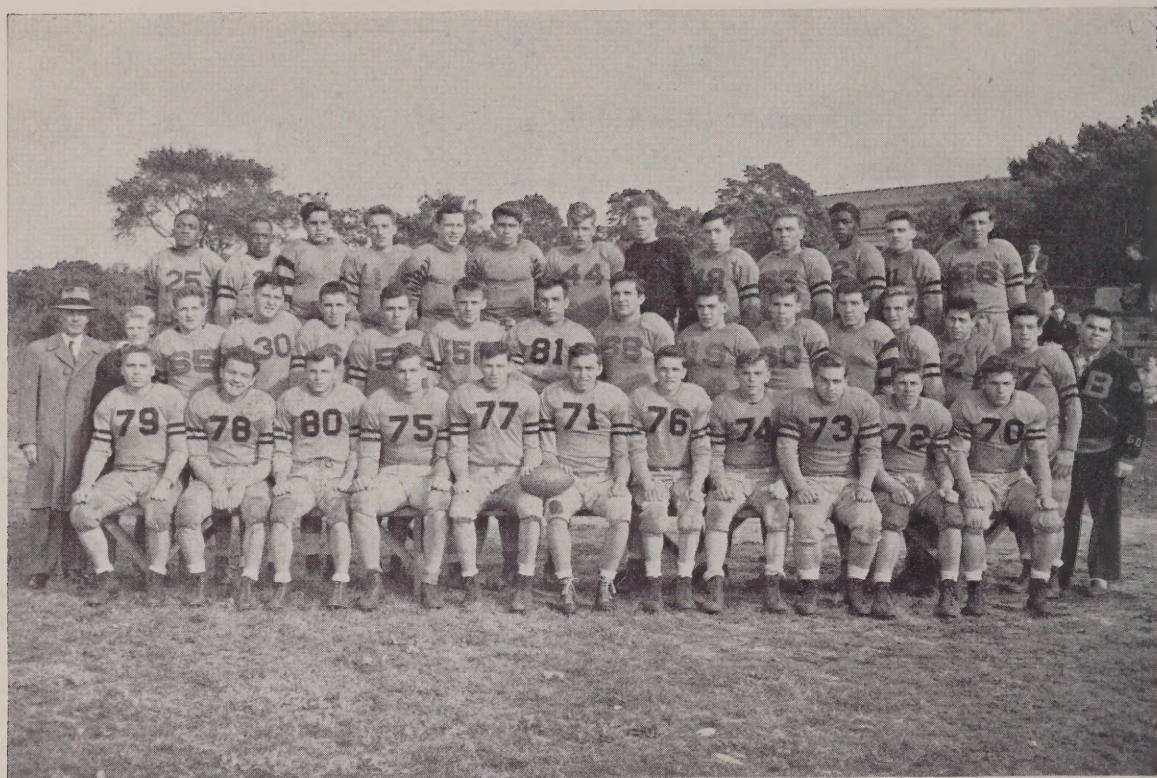

Now we must finish life's journey alone,
Each on the path he selects as his own:
Brighton has given us knowledge and truth,
Treasure poured forth with the wisdom of age;
We have her gifts, and the strength of our youth.

Vision enkindled, dreams in our hearts aglow,
Eager for conquest, beyond her reach we go:
If failures touch us, wherever we may be,
Our loved Alma Mater shall still be our beacon,
And her guiding spirit shall lead us to victory.

The great stream of the world flows swift and strong;
We must find our place in the mighty throng:
Let the heedless pass; we shall do our part,
With memories of our well-beloved Brighton
An inspiration held in each loyal heart.

Striving, working, knowing no end or beginning,
Always the guerdon we seek shall be worth our winning,
That we may touch the sky with Brighton's praise:
To make her glory and her renown unending,
We, her children, will keep the torch ablaze!

Football

When the whistle blew for the first practice, eighty-seven boys reported to battle for the eleven positions on the team. Of this number, ten were returning senior letter men. They were: Greene, Finley, Walsh, Romano, McDonough, Nicholls, Pulsifer, Doyle (Navy vet), McGuire, and Rallo. Other seniors were Sullivan, Anderson, and Stephans.

Bill Greene's great passing, Bob Finley's line play, Ray Romano's long break-away runs, and the all-around defensive and offensive play of Jim McDonough, Bob Nicholls and Frank Doyle contributed largely to the successful work of the team. Their places will be very difficult to fill next year.

Hampered by injuries and loss of key players to the armed service, Brighton got off to a slow start, beating Brandeis 19-7, then losing to East Boston 7-6, South Boston 20-0, Jamaica Plain 7-0. By shifting the backfield and changing the formation, Brighton got back in the win column by beating Charlestown 7-0, Roxbury Memorial 25-7, Dorchester 42-6, and Hyde Park 12-0. We lost our final game against Roslindale 6-0 in the last few minutes. The starting line-up was:

L.e. Doyle, l.t. Finley (Capt.), l.g. Williams, c. Melia, r.g. McMahon, r.t. Lyman, r.e. Nicholls, q.b. Greene (Capt.), r.h.b. Fairbanks, l.h.b. Aldonis, f.b. Romano,

BOB FINLEY, BILL GREENE, Co-captains

Hockey

This year's team was very well set up by the returning of several letter men of last year.

Under Mr. Burnham's able leadership and coaching ability the squad began practice shortly before the Christmas vacation. Until the weather permitted ice, the workouts were light. After the Christmas vacation, there was ice, and the squad really settled down to hard work.

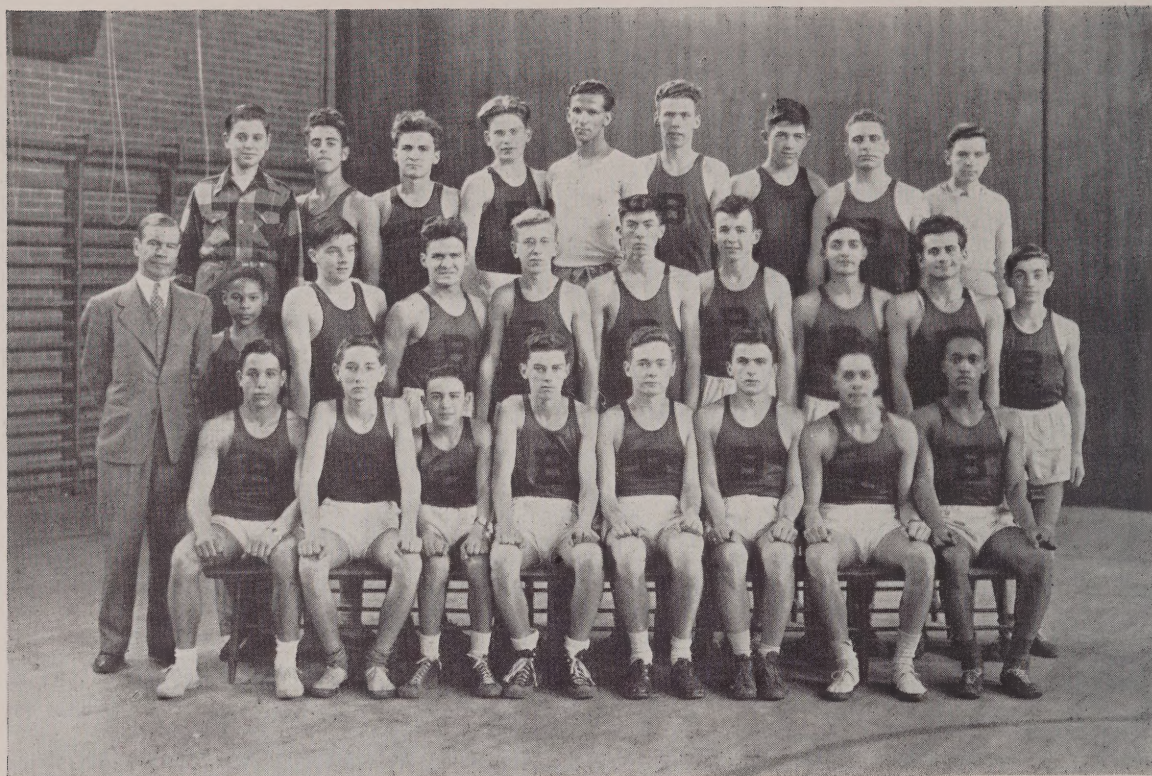

The cooperation and spirit which all our teams show were evident under very trying conditions. The squad expected to reach high in the final and succeeded in doing so.

Among the prominent boys were Dick Lawson, and Frank and Stan Aldonis who made up the first line. These boys had Mark Foley, Art Tiernan, and Johnny Logan as very capable reserves. The captain was Karl Chambers who made many magnificent saves in the goal to keep Brighton up among the winners.

We hope that in the future all Brighton Hockey teams uphold the standard set by teams of the past and do as well as the Brighton Hockey Team of 1947.

The hockey squad of 1947 wishes to thank Mr. Burnham for the fair play, sportsmanship, and integrity taught to us through the year.

JOHN R. WINSTANLEY, Manager

Track

This year's track team was made up of inexperienced boys. Only one or two of last year's team were on the squad. Although we had very few place winners, nevertheless, the boys gained the experience which will be very helpful next year.

There were only two outstanding members of the senior class on the track team this year, Burt Davidson and Ken Gillis.

We hope that next year Brighton will regain her past glory in the track games as of days gone by.

KEN GILLIS, Captain

Basketball

The season of 1946-1947 has produced the best basketball team Brighton High School has had since the sport has come to the Boston Schools.

The team played "spotty" at times, but when the "chips were down", and the game close they responded like "true Vets".

The graduation of Frank Doyle, Al Choiniere, Ray Romano, Al Rovaldi, Bob Bowers will leave quite a gap for Coach Fuller to fill next year. Other members that helped carry the load this year were Dick Lyman, Jim McDonough and Al Delarusso.

Frank Doyle lived up to all that was expected of him and played a brilliant game all year. He was a great "play-maker" and his dazzling "long shots" kept the team moving.

"Al" Choiniere was one of the league's highest scorers with over 200 points to his credit. He was a great asset to the team, as he pulled them out of several tight spots with some "dazzling" baskets and "quick" thinking. He proved himself one of the most capable pivot men in the "Conference".

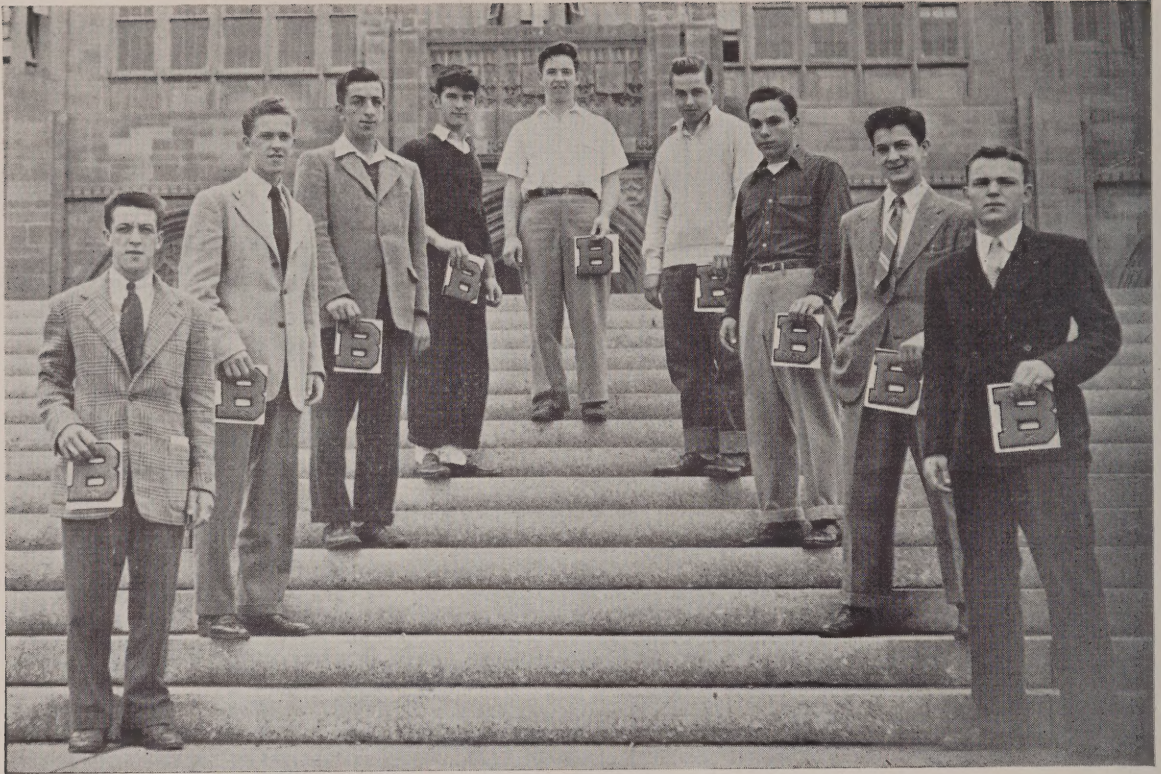

Ray Romano was "King" of the back court and a tower of defensive strength. He was the chief cog in making the opponents "bog down" time after time. Ray was always a scoring threat with his "long shots".

Bob Nicholls, although side-lined for the first few games because of an injured knee, came back in time to prove his ability as a great player. His perfect way of handling and dribbling the ball, along with precision passes made him a strong link in the team.

Al Rovaldi, a player of fine quality, made one of the best "feeders" on the court as he set plays up in the "bucket". His scoring kept the team in the game all the time.

Dick Lyman, Jim McDonough, and Bob Bowers rounded out the squad that had a real fine season.

FRED OLSON, Captain

Baseball

Brighton High School had reason to be proud of this year's baseball team as it was one of the best in the city. For the first time since the war, Coach "Billy" Murphy was greeted by a large turnout of aspiring ball players. Among these, there were several returning lettermen from the previous campaign.

Outstanding were: Bob Foley, Bill Greene, Frank Doyle, Gene Gilliatt, Bob Sullivan, Jerry Hachadurian, and Bob Foster, a junior. Jim McDonough, Fred Olson, Bob Nicholls, and Al Williams also contributed in no small amount to the team's success.

We, the squad of 1947, sincerely hope that other teams in years to come can receive as much enjoyment and success as we have this past season.
